Those of our readers who have perused the entertaining "Arabian Nights" will remember the story of the fifth voyage of Sinbad the Sailor, who, having been cast ashore upon a fertile island, was solicited by a disconsolate-looking old man to transport him on his shoulders across a small streamlet. Good, easy Sinbad complied with the request, but when he had carried the old man to the other side, he refused to dismount, and twisting his legs around his benefactor's neck squeezed his throat and compelled him to carry him for many days whithersoever he liked. The story continues that Sinbad made some wine from the juice of the wild grape, induced the old man to imbibe thereof, and when he was reduced to a state of mellowiness by the generous draught, untwisted his legs and beat out his brains with a stone and escaped. The sailor was afterwards told that his late persecutor was called the "Old Man of the Sea," and that all who had ever carried him had perished, excepting himself. We congratulate Governor Seymour upon having at length shaken off his Old Man of the Sea, who, in the form of an inexperienced youth from the Colonial Office, upon the prestige of His Excellency's name, has overridden the best interests of the country and all but ruined his benefactor. It is hoped that the incubus has been got rid of forever, and that if he was not reduced to a state of mellowiness before his departure, he will at least have his official head knocked from his shoulders by a well-directed blow from a official despatch to the Colonial Office. Governor Seymour has now a grand chance to achieve greatness. His reputation is in his own hands. The "Old Man" whom he has just silenced has been the country's evil genius for years; but by an impartial and unprejudiced administration of affairs, and with economical management, the financial affairs of the Colony can be placed, before the expiration of His Excellency's term, in a comparatively prosperous condition. His Excellency we believe to be a thoroughly honest, well-meaning official; he can afford to be independent, and we have therefore little fear that he will follow the devious snake-like course of the man whose blunders and prejudices and mean, despicable line of policy have contributed so much to disbarren our people and render the very name of British Colony a by-word on the Pacific Coast. What is wanted most of all is thorough Retrenchment in the conduct of public affairs. The Colony ought to be and must be governed for $1,000,000 per annum, which added to the amount ($212,000) required to meet debentures falling due and to pay the interest on the loan, would bring the entire expenditure of Government down to, say, $362,000. This sum should be ample for all the requirements of the public service, were it properly applied. To continue in the future the policy of the past would be simple madness or downright wickedness. Cannot Governor Seymour see from the returns of revenue for the past six months of the current year the probable returns for the next six months? Is he not aware that where the Colony owed $1,200,000 at the end of '66, it will owe at least $1,500,000 at the close of '67, and how does he propose to meet the deficiency? By increasing the Customs duties? He would destroy our foreign trade and reduce the revenue from that service at least one-third, besides holding out inducements for smuggling and increasing the cost of collection. By a revival of the real estate tax? He would have half the realty in the country on his hands for unpaid taxes. By an increase of the trades' licences? He would lessen the number of traders in proportion as he raised the tax. By a special tax on stocks of merchandise? It would be unconstitutional. The miners, who pay a generous share towards the revenue, are now taxed heavily; if their burthens were increased they would throw down the shovel and the hoe' and leave the hills to themselves; and as for the Italian banditti style of collecting a gold export duty, it is not to be entertained for a moment with the memory of the former disastrous attempt to raise a revenue by that means still disagreeably fresh in our minds. Will he appeal to the Home Government for relief? When he asks for bread they will give him a stone. None of these expedients would answer. If adopted they would inevitably result in disappointment. What course, then, can His Excellency adopt to insure the payment of current expenses? We answer, simply, his Government save in immediate and thorough retrenchment—a speedy and radical change in every department, and the amalgamation of all the offices under one head. The machinery now in use is too cumbersome and expensive. We have put the engines of the Great Eastern into the Leviathan, and are trying to make the hull fit the engines, instead of altering the engines to suit the hull. We are attempting to do too much with a diminished revenue, and the country will be in the Bankruptcy Court before the year is over if Governor Seymour fails to adopt our suggestions or take into his confidence a Secretary of ability, experience and honesty in place of the selfish and pragmatical tyro in politics who, because he knew next to nothing, considered that he was master of all political lore. It was a blessed day for Governor Seymour when he imitated the example of Sinbad the Sailor and shook the wicked "Old Man" off; and it will be a thrice blessed day for His Excellency, and a glorious one for the Colony, when he consents to bring the expenses of Government down to a figure within the ability of the people to pay. We have ever given Governor Seymour credit for an honest desire to serve the country; but we have always believed that he was too much beneath the baneful influence of his late incubus to insure success to his Administration. Perhaps His Excellency was not to blame for this—perhaps his hands were tied at the Colonial Office, and he was compelled to keep a disagreeable servant in his employ; but there is no such necessity now. The load has at last been dropped. The people—the taxpayers—the men who cheerfully subscribe from their substance to the support of this Government—are waiting anxiously to see what policy Governor Seymour means to pursue; whether he intends to govern the country in an enlightened, liberal and economical manner, or whether he designs to continue the wretched, illiberal and expensive system that obtained under the management of the "OLD MAN" or of the SEA."

CHINESE COMMERCE—The returns of the trade of the Chinese ports open to foreign flags show that the total amount of the trade of China carried on under foreign flags amounted in the year 1865 to the estimated value of 237,597,922 taels, equal to very nearly a third of that number of pounds sterling. This is an increase of about 29,000 taels over the previous year. It includes the amount of the whole import and export, and the amount of the imported and exported treasure, less the amount of the exports. At the port of Shanghai, which is partly a depot for other ports, the import and export of treasure could not be correctly ascertained, and is not included in the above amounts. The total estimated value of the imports, foreign and native coast trade, amounted in 1863 to 169,950,334 taels, an increase of 27,000,000 taels over the preceding year. The exports of 1865 were as follows: To Great Britain and her possessions, 30,161,697 taels; to Japan, 270,743 taels; United States, 5,864,823 taels; sundry countries, 3,757,834 taels; to other open Chinese ports, 41,110,354 taels; making a total of 104,165,451 taels, in addition to treasure exported of the value of 29,052,096 taels—an increase in the grand total of nearly 12,000,000 taels over the previous year. The revenue of all kinds accruing to the Chinese Government on foreign trade at the treaty ports has in the five years amounted to about 32,560,000 taels. The Inspector General observes that foreign merchants come to China to trade because it pays them to do so, and that these figures show that the Chinese—merchants, people and government—are not without their share in the advantages springing from commercial intercourse. The revenue amounted to 2,531,763 taels in the first three-quarters of a year; 6,635,917 taels in the year ending the 30th June 1862; 7,259,168 taels in the third year 1862-63; 7,247 taels in the fourth year 1863-64; 7,803,587 taels in the fifth year, 1864-65; so that the annual revenue is now nearer to £2,000,000 than to £2,000,000.

AN ANCIENT NEGRO ON THE STUMP—There has been a big "Woman's Rights" Convention at New York, and among the speakers was Sojourner Truth, a negro 80 years of age. Her famous name is well bestowed. She was for 40 years a slave. She made her appearance on the platform in the ordinary garb of a Quakeress, saying that about her head she wore a turban. Her address was delivered in the negro dialect, as it is spoken in the United States, and was full of that metaphor in which the American negro delights. This will serve as a specimen:—"I've been pealing to the public that many years a gitter snapper 'bolded,' but peers like do work ain't morn'n half done. You got a work yet afore you. Deafened man, he got his rights; but nobody makes fuss about de call'd woman's right." * Well, chilun, I'se old enough to be mudder of all yere. * * I'se been yere 80 year; but de'r's work to do, and I'se go to tarry. I want women—call'd women as well as wive women—on the jury." After continuing her remarks in this strain, Sojourner favored the audience with a song of one of her own composition. As she sang it, she snapped her fingers like castanets, and beat time loudly with one foot, swaying herself backward and forward in true plantation style.

LADY DOCTORS—The report of the Ladies' Medical College for the three years ended with the present month states that the third annual session of the Society's teaching operations has closed with results that are both satisfactory and promising. Fifty ladies have entered as students, of whom 12 entered during the first session, 9 during the second, and 29 during the third. Of those ladies 10 were widowed, 15 married and 25 single. Some were amateur students, who attended the lectures merely as a means of personal education, 9 were midwives previously in practice, 11 the matron of a maternity hospital, 10 were sisters, daughters or wives of medical men, one was prepared to go to Delhi as a missionary in connection with the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, a considerable number were or would have been governesses, and some were of no occupation. The committee say that many other gentlewomen would gladly have availed themselves of the College but were prevented by want of pecuniary means. The report says that not only has the sum of £25,145 in fees been cheerfully paid, but a further sum of £829 has been voluntarily given to subscribe the Society's funds for the support of the New York Times.

RAILWAY TRAVELLING IN AMERICA.—Railroad travel over long routes has come to be done almost wholly without stopping. Nobody going to Chicago or St. Louis thinks of stopping to rest over night—nor, as a general thing, do through trains stop for meals. This has led necessarily to the provision of cars specially adapted to the service thus required. Sleeping cars are in general use, but on all the Eastern roads they continue to be the close, dirty, inconvenient cribs they were at the beginning. On the Western roads they have improved constantly and rapidly, and are furnished every year with fresh conveniences. There, as here, they are in the hands of private individuals—the railroad companies having nothing to do with them, beyond allowing them to run over their roads, thus saving them the necessity of providing just so much rolling stock. A Mr. Fullerton, of Chicago, is the "king" of the sleeping cars at the West, running his cars over less than sixteen separate lines of road. He makes them better and better, and more roomy, with better beds and more elegant furniture, and has succeeded in securing for them a continuous route from the city to the extreme West, over some of the Pennsylvania lines. He has lately made another advance in their construction. He is now building cars with separate apartments for family travel—each apartment furnished with arm-chairs, tables, sofas, mirrors, beds, &c., and by means of a compact kitchen attached to each car, each person served with meals a la carte, at whatever hours may best suit his or her convenience. A week ago he brought one of these cars to Albany and ran it through by special train, direct to Omaha, for the United States Commissioners appointed to inspect and accept that part of the Pacific Railroad already done, and an accompanying party of invited guests. Several of these cars are already in use on the Western roads. They are exceedingly comfortable and deprive long journeys of nearly all their inconveniences and discomforts. They add of necessity to the cost of travel, but a very large portion of our people are always ready to pay for what additional comfort payment will secure.

THE QUEEN HAS BEEN CONFERRED ON Sir Benjamin Guinness the hereditary right to bear supporters to the family arms, a distinction limited, except in special cases, to the Peers of the realm. This favor is granted in recognition of his munificence in restoring St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin.

Mrs. Archer, the French officier de police who accompanied the Prince of Wales in his frequent visits to the Exhibition, and prevented his Royal Highness from being at any time inconveniently approached by the crowd, has been presented by the Prince with a very handsome gold pin; having the Prince's arms beautifully set in diamonds.

ENGLISH IS SPOKEN HERE.—A Spanish

gentleman who deals in patent blacking proclaims the merits of his war to English visitors in the following circular:—The firm of Arducella—Grand Manufactury of Blacking, oily and reigns, tithe the Emperor of the Blacking, Black Ink, and of all colour's to write with. D. Joseph Grau, Member of the National Academy of Great Britain, rewarded in the Sevillean Exhibition of 1858, and of London in 1862. Spain, Arducella Seville, O'Donnell street, N. 34. This blacking is known to be the most useful for the conservation of the shoes, for its brilliancy, permanency, flexibility, and complete decomposition of the black animal. Mr. Joseph Grau has a present of £20 sterling to the person that will present him a blacking in paste, that will restore the same conditions, as the Emperor of the Blacking.

BRITISH NORTH AMERICAN MUSCLE vs THE WORLD.—The triumph of the St. Johns, New Brunswick, crew in the recent regatta on the Seine, was no more than was expected by those who are at all acquainted with the skill and muscle of men from our Maritime Provinces. The subscriptions towards carrying out the object amounted to upwards of £1000, the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Edinburgh having each given £100. There were four classes of competitors—one for amateurs, and comprising eight, four and pair-oared boats, sculls and canoes. The cups which formed the prizes ranged in value from £5 to £120. Another class for watermen, in which the prizes were purse of from £15 to £100; a third class for men-of-war's men, with money prizes of from £15 to £30; and the fourth competition was for yacht's men, with money prizes of from £15 to £30; in addition to these sports, arrangements were made for an ocean race with yachts, the start being from England on the 4th of July; and for rowing boat races on the Seine under French management on the 7th and 8th of July. The course selected for the regatta was at St Cloud, down stream, and about a mile and a quarter in length. Particulars should reach here in about six weeks' time.

LYNCHING A SWELL MOBMAN ON CLAPHAM-COMMON.—On Wednesday morning an incident occurred which created much merriment on Clapham-common among a large number of persons assembled to witness the road traffic to Epsom races. In the crowd of people congregated on the footpath a lady complained of having been robbed of her watch, and pointed out a well-dressed man as the thief. He was stopped and held by some bystanders, and while a policeman was being searched for a van drove up containing some respectable-looking mechanics, who at once clared the swell mobman took the watch from him and gave it up to the owner, and then deliberately carried the thief to a pond and threw him in, and as he came to the side, the dose was repeated several times, when the fellow was left, and he skulked off drenched with water, amidst the boozing and laughter of the crowd of spectators.—English Paper.

The SAANICH SHOOTING CASE.—Peter Lind appeared on remand yesterday before Mr Pemberton and A. C. Anderson, Esq., J.P., to answer a charge of shooting and grievously wounding an Indian at North Saanich, about six days ago. Mr Robert Bishop appeared for the defence. It was proved that Lind received great provocation from the Indian and that he considered the safety of his wife and family to be jeopardised before firing. As the man was not dangerously wounded, and as it is a matter almost of impossibility to procure the attendance of native witnesses before a higher court, Mr Pemberton dealt with the case in a summary manner and fined Lind $25, which he paid.

LIGHTING UP IN AN INSTANT.—At the Royal palace at Berlin, 40,000 wax candles are instantaneously lighted by one single match. The mode of proceeding is simple enough, the wicks being previously all connected by a thread spun out of gun-cotton, on lighting one end of which all the candles are lighted simultaneously, and thus the whole of the 700 apartments are illuminated at once. The process is so easy, that the wonder is that it is not more extensively known and generally practised. In Russia the same ingenious method is employed for lighting up the churches on grand occasions.—The Grocer.

A LETTER has been received by ex-Mayor Franklin from his brother at San Francisco concerning the character of a lady who was plaintiff in a recent suit for damages in the Supreme Court. The writer vouches for the respectability of the lady, and states that she brought letters of introduction from the Bishop of Hongkong and the American Consul at the same place. While at San Francisco she boarded at Mrs. Parcell's, an establishment of the highest respectability. This information will, we think, remove any doubts that may have been entertained as to the standing of the plaintiff by people here.

EXPERIMENTS AT SHOEBURNEYS.—Important experiments on armour-plates, composed of iron and steel, were made recently at Shoeburneys. Some of the Lords of the Admiralty and a large number of the Ordnance Select Committee, were present. Messrs. Cammell's hard steel-faced and their solid rolled iron plate, both of seven inches thickness, were the only ones of the series tested that kept out the Palliser shot fired at 70 yards from the Woolwich muzzle-loading rifled gun with a 15 pound charge of powder.

EMPLOYMENT OF WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN AGRICULTURE.—Mr H. S. Tremethick and Mr E. C. Tuffnell are appointed Her Majesty's Commissioners to inquire into and report on the employment of children and young persons and women in agriculture, for the purpose of ascertaining to what extent and with what modifications the principles of the Factory Acts can be adopted for the regulation of such employment, and especially with a view to the better education of such children.

PIC-NIC AT PARSONS' BRIDGE.—Mr C. E. Brown has arranged to hold a grand pic-nic at his hotel, Parsons' bridge, on Thursday next, the 25th Inst. A fine orchestra band will be in attendance, and dancing and sports of various kinds will be the order of the day.

THE ENTERPRISE sailed at 12 o'clock yesterday—having waited for the tide to turn—for New Westminster. She carried fifteen passengers and a small freight.

THE RIFLE MATCH—By telegraph last evening we learn the result of the rifle match between the New Westminster Ten and the Victoria Ten:

Victoria Ten 383 points,
New Westminster Ten 332 "

Victoria ahead 51 points.

In shooting three ranges, Victoria beat New Westminster and had a range to spare. Particulars will be received this morning.

LIGHTING THE SYNAGOGUE WITH GAS.—A number of persons were present last evening at the Synagogue, on Pandora street, to witness the effect of the lighting of this fine structure with gas, last evening being the first time it was lit up. The gas-lighting was executed by Messrs Wallace & Stewart; the painting and gilding by Mr J. Crowther, and the workmanship in both cases was excellent, and we were told the price charged were most moderate.

LIQUOR LICENSE INSTALMENTS.—Publicans will please bear in mind that the first quarter's instalment of liquor licences falls due to-morrow and is payable to-day before the hour of noon. Parties neglecting to pay will subject themselves to a fine of $250 should they sell liquor on Monday, and as Government very needly, they may be sure that not much leniency will be shown if they are brought up.

GOVERNOR SEYMOUR started for New Westminster yesterday morning. His Excellency's residence in British Honduras for a number of years has rendered him impervious to the assaults of winged insects; but we sincerely sympathize with his unmosquitzited staff.

We understand that Maguire's Band design giving a second Pic-nic at Cadby ro Bay, on Saturday next. Few who attended the former Pic-nic, by the same band, will avail themselves of the opportunity for being present at the forthcoming reunion.

CRICKET—A match will be played to-day between the Elevens of the Zealots and Malacca, wickets to be pitched at 11 o'clock. The fine band of the Zealots will be on the ground in the afternoon.

DOE.—The steamer Fideliter, from Portland, on Thursday, and the U.S. Steamer Lincoln, from San Francisco, on Tuesday, are both due to-day.

THE IDAHO.—A despatch from San Francisco announces the safe arrival there yesterday of the steamship Idaho from Victoria.

THE STEAMSHIP J. L. STEPHENS is being fitted at San Francisco for a trip to Sitka, with U. S. troops and passengers.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS should be cured, as they surely can be, by a few doses of AVER'S SAPARAPILLA.

THE LIVINGSTONE EXPEDITION.

At the fortnightly meeting of the Royal Geographical Society, on Monday night, Sir Roderick Murchison, Bart, K. C. B., presided. In a few opening remarks, he said it would be a search in vain for the explorers to go into the interior of Africa in quest of Dr Livingstone, and it was only their intention to go to the spot where he is reported to have been killed, and put to rest the doubts whether he is dead or not. Her Majesty's Government has granted a sum of money in aid of the expedition, and Lord Stanley and the Admiralty have behaved most liberally in furthering the design of the Society.

Mr E. T. Young, a clear-headed and well-educated man, who knows the river Zambezi and the people in the country which he has to traverse will take charge of the expedition, which consists of three others besides himself. They will take the little iron and steel boat now building at Chatham, have it carried across the country till they reach a point above the rapids, and then sail for the northern end of Lake Nyassa, which is only twenty or thirty miles from the spot where Livingstone is reported to have been murdered, and then get authentic information. He would remind his hearers that a caravan of Arab traders had passed within ten miles of the spot within a month or two after the alleged murder, and the report they heard was that Dr Livingstone had passed into the friendly country beyond. Further, he had that morning received a letter from Dr Kirk, stating that the Consul had strictly examined the Johannah men, but could not detect that they had told any falsehood. But Dr Kirk also states that a report has reached him that a trader, just arrived at the port from the interior of the country whence Dr Livingstone intended to visit, said that he had seen a white man there. At the time of writing Dr Kirk had not found this trader. Nevertheless, the prevalence of reports such as these show the propriety of the search set on foot.

BARNUM'S REVENGE.—James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald, and the well-known Mr Barnum, are at war. Bennett pursued Barnum to Connecticut, where the latter tried to represent that place in Congress, and partly contributed to his defeat through attacks in the Herald. Barnum keeps a museum in New York in which there is a wax-work exhibition, and he is about having wax figures made to represent certain scenes in which Mr Bennett has been engaged in the course of his career. The sketches are said to be admirable. They are to be placed in the chamber of horrors.
